This includes determining the audience members for your product, the information you want to convey and technology you'll use to convey the message. When you create an icon, you first need to make a concept first. Icons that have textures are more difficult to make. Then you need to research the available website icons out there that you like and they can fit on the icon. The first one is used to create a translucent or opaque mask for the content. When any of the layers are selected, the layer mask clicking on it allows editing to be done. In particular, the content mask enables each layer to be edited and altered. When any of the layers are selected, the layer mask clicking on it allows editing to be done.
