If you want to use this service, you have to bring web pages, links, and feedback into your room with you, or install apps on your devices and create web pages and links in order to share your files. These limitations can prevent or slow down the usefulness of reviews from highly skilled, experienced professionals in a timely fashion. Image Share (beta) makes it easy to invite trusted Adobe users to get review and input for your project. Anyone who has an Adobe account can use Image Share to review your project, collaborate on it with you, and send feedback. All you have to do is share your project in one of the supported file formats. Image Share relies on the security of your Adobe network account.
